

Central Intelligence Agency

Washington, D.C. 20505

1 May 1985

Mr. William T. Archey
Acting Assistant Secretary
for Trade Administration
U.S. Department of Commerce
Washington, D.C. 20230

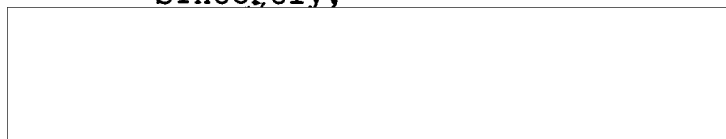

Dear Mr. Archey:

On behalf of the participants in the Agency's first Seminar on Science and Technology Forecasting, I want to thank you for your time and effort for an enlightening presentation on technology controls. It helped in making the seminar a success.

Student comments regarding the emphasis of your presentation were most favorable. They took to heart your argument that they focus on relevant commodities, emerging technologies, and those items which have potential military value.

I hope we may count on you to address any future seminar we may sponsor.

Sincerely,

Director
of
Training and Education

STAT